mare – magazine of the oceans

mare is committed to create sophisticated, independent, high-quality journalism, while establishing in the public's consciousness an awareness of the oceans' importance for mankind's living, economic and cultural environments. Every 2 months mare provides new food for thought on economic, political, cultural, ecological and scientific subjects in connection with and from the point of view of the oceans. Unusual photography and a multi prize-winning layout set the scene for the content.

mare readers are sensual "bon vivants" through and through. They are personalities with experience of life, who consciously take time for the finer things of life. In their professional life they are in decision-maker positions and have an above-average income at their disposal. They attach particular importance to high quality and are prepared to invest more to obtain it.

The high share of subscribers and the intensive use of the magazine reflect the high degree of reader loyalty. Back copies of the magazine which has been published since 1997, have become collectors' items.

The quality of mare is also celebrated by the publishing industry which regularly bestows awards on the magazine of the oceans for text, pictures, layout and print.

The website mare.de, the broadcasts of mareTV and mareradio, as well as the book programme round off the high-quality brand family and assure a high level of brand awareness.
